

THE ELDERLY

“If we live long enough, we’ll have a disability.” This phrase reminds us that if nothing unexpected happens, we will reach an advanced age and probably have some limitations.

Our experience in dealing with disabilities is of particular value to the elderly, who find solutions when they encounter sensory or motor difficulties, or if they are diagnosed with an additional condition such as Parkinson’s disease, Alzheimer’s or other types of dementia.

Our solutions for the elderly serve to make everyday life at home more comfortable and provide resources for care centers that allow them to carry out stimulating, adapted experiences that interest the older generation.
